

Reconstruction of High-Dimensional States Entangled in Orbital Angular Momentum Using Mutually Unbiased Measurements

D. Giovannini^{1, *}, J. Romero^{1, 2}, J. Leach³, A. Dudley⁴, A. Forbes^{4, 5} and M. J. Padgett¹

¹ School of Physics and Astronomy, SUPA, University of Glasgow, Glasgow G12 8QQ, United Kingdom

² Department of Physics, SUPA, University of Strathclyde, Glasgow G4 ONG, United Kingdom

³ School of Engineering and Physical Sciences, SUPA, Heriot-Watt University, Edinburgh EH14 4AS, United Kingdom

⁴ CSIR National Laser Centre, PO Box 395, Pretoria 0001, South Africa

⁵ School of Physics, University of KwaZulu-Natal, Private Bag X54001, Durban 4000, South Africa

* d.giovannini.1@research.gla.ac.uk

Abstract

Efficient quantum state reconstruction of a high-dimensional multi-partite quantum system can be performed by considering mutually unbiased measurements of the individual parts. We illustrate this approach experimentally using a bipartite photonic system entangled in orbital angular momentum.