

Biomass to biochar: opportunities and constraints of the use of biochar for rehabilitating eroded soils

Luanita van der Walt

Council for Scientific and Industrial Research

Abstract

The purpose of this study was to review biochar research towards investigating the potential of biochar for the rehabilitation of eroded soils, outside of agricultural systems.